Administrator's Column

From a parent on a BCS elementary field trip: One child tripped and hurt his leg. After I got home and was looking at my pictures, I realized my pictures showed the love and compassion that the students have for one another. Immediately, two students were there to help him walk, one on each side, and then the entire class came over to assist him. He had his whole class there to love, support and help in any way that they could. A situation like this shouldn't be rare. But it is. Had that happened in a public school that child more than likely would have been made fun of, possibly receiving little to no assistance from anyone, including the teacher. The whole situation melted my heart.

Wishing you and yours the love of Jesus always!

Merry Christmas

The Christmas season is nearly here. Below is a reminder about the days and times we are closed for Christmas break!
