Administrator's Column

Have you ever heard of "FOMO"? It stands for "Fear of Missing Out". When you think about it, it explains why many of our kids and even adults are constantly checking their phones or other electronic devices for the latest in social media. I encourage you to limit such devices, especially during family time, in order to connect with each other and enjoy some good old conversation. Monitor what your kids listen to, watch, and their use of electronics. It's your God-given responsibility!

Blessings,

Dr. Peggy Polson
